HOW SMALL CAN YOU PACK A TOWEL??

Rebecca and I were at 7-11 this afternoon. By the checkout was a package of something that looked like it could be candies. It was called TowTabs. Rebecca was looking at it when the clerk pointed out that they were towels. We had to buy some to try them out. They are a small hard cylindrical shaped tablet. You add 1/2 ounce of water and it expands. You unroll it and you have a small towel for washing your hands and face or wiping things up. It was so cool that I am sending Shawn back to 7-11 to get some more to put in our backpacks for our trip.
